

How the Deep State influences politics

According to various testimonies, the "Deep State" influences politics through blackmail almost everywhere. In 2017, for example, an official of the US Department of the Interior anonymously testified that governments and secret services around the world are involved in pedophile networks.

According to various testimonies, the "Deep State" influences politics through blackmail almost everywhere. In 2017, for example, an official of the US Department of the Interior anonymously testified that governments and secret services around the world are involved in pedophile networks. Politicians who have pedophilic tendencies are preferentially used for power, due to this they can later be blackmailed and controlled. This insider cited pedophile, billionaire Jeffrey Epstein's so-called "Lolita Island" as an example. The island, covered with video cameras, was used to lure powerful politicians into a system of blackmail. This was confirmed by ex-CIA agent Robert Steele: "There are videos of some of the most powerful people in the most degrading situations."

The American author Cathy O'Brien confirmed in her report - amongst others - that this practice has been in use for quite some time: She and her daughter had already been abhorrently sexually abused as minors by American elite politicians - Ford, Reagan, Bush, Cheney, the Clintons. Through this involvement in pedocriminal practices, politicians can be blackmailed all their lives through once-recorded videos and be forced into compliance with the "Deep State" agenda.
